Class and Object

Create a class named PetrolDetails that will store petrol station name as a String, petrol type like shell, etc as a String, petrol price as a double.
Create a setter and getter of all variables.
Also create toString() method.

Write a test class and assign value to all of the variables. Also get value from the user.